

Special Interest Project Topic Directions

Please work with your child to brainstorm ideas for their special interest project. Students should select topics that are genuinely interesting to them. Please do not have your child select topics that they already know plenty about; the point here is to learn something new.

Step One: We are suggesting that your child come up with five topic ideas.

*We will not be accepting animals for this project, unless they are specific to some part of the Middle Ages through Enlightenment. Please visit with us on these.

Step Two: With your help, pick the three that have available resources for research.

*In the past we have experienced students choosing topics before looking for available research—if there are limited resources available, it can make the project a long and arduous process—so please do not skip this step.

Step Three: Turn in project topics on Friday, January 13th. From this list, one topic will be assigned to your child, so please make sure that choices are listed in order of preference.

*Topics will not be assigned until the 13th. We encourage you to use the time available to come up with topic ideas.

Please detach and return bottom portion on Friday, January 13th.
